Want to give Fanlore a whirl?

Start by setting up your user page with this easy form:

<http://tinyurl.com/fanlore-profile>

From there the possibilities are endless. Document your favorite fanzines, stories and authors. Reminisce about the conventions and fan gatherings you attended. Help preserve fandom history of the pre-Internet days. (What is this mimeograph machine that you speak of? A Betamax VCR?) Discuss the early mailing lists and forums. (Usenet? Prodigy? Compuserve?) Upload your photographs and art. And talk, talk, talk about your favorite fandoms and how FIAWOL (fandom is a way of life).
